1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

The primary purpose of this document is to define the SDS Baseline Documentation control structure.

1.2 Scope

The scope of this document includes the control structure and the current Baseline for SDS Baseline Documentation.

1.3 Definition of Terms

Verification Baseline Document (Baseline Document)

All VTPSs and all SDS specification documents referenced by each VTPS are Baseline Documents. Any other SDS specification documents become Baseline Documents when and if they are included in a Baseline Issue.

Verification Baseline (Baseline)

The Verification Baseline is a list, of all the Baseline Documents, which identifies each document by document name, document number, issue number, and issue date (for reference only).

1.4 Forms

None used.

1.5 Reference Documents

None.

2. Baseline Definition

2.1 Baseline Documents

2.1.1 Current Baseline Documents

Doc. No.	Document Name	Doc. Abbreviation
GS 052 103	Application Layer Protocol	ALP
GS 052 104	Physical Layer Specification	PL
GS 052 105	Device Guidelines Specification	DG
GS 052 106	Interface Guidelines Specification	IG
GS 052 107	Component Modeling Specification	CM
GS 052 108	VTPS - I/O Devices	VTPS-I/O
GS 052 118	Critical Parts List	CPL

2.2 Baseline Issue

2.2.1 Baseline Issue Number Format

The Baseline Issue Number shall have the form:      NNN.nn

where “NNN” is an integer representing more significant issue changes and where “nn” is an integer representing less significant issue changes. “NNN” shall be unbounded. “nn” shall be limited to two digits (e.g., 34.96). The initial Baseline Issue Number shall be 1.0. Each successive issue shall increment either “NNN” or “nn”, and whenever “NNN” is incremented “n” must be reset to 0.

2.3 Baseline Initiation

The first issue of this document establishes the SDS Baseline.

2.4 Baseline Control

Any change to the SDS Baseline can only be accomplished by reissue of this document. The SDS Council is responsible for managing any changes to the Baseline.
